P159200 - Principles of Defense Acquisition Management

This course provides a theoretical examination of defense acquisition and logistics management combined with practical application in a variety of national settings. International best practices are discussed along with the challenges associated with implementation.

P159202 - Principles of Defense Procurement & Contracting

This course provides a theoretical and practical examination of both pre and post award contract phases. International best practices are examined along with the challenges associated with institutionalizing efficient and effective procurement systems.

P179069 - International Defense Acquisition Negotiations

This course focuses on planning and preparing for negotiations with an emphasis on negotiation of complex issues international armaments contracts. Extensive in-class negotiations are conducted. Participants learn their negotiating style tendencies and how and when to adapt their negotiation style given the behavior and goals of the parties.

P170024 - Defense Governance

This seminar is designed to empower participants with the knowledge and skills sets needed to successfully govern defense institutions, to bolster efficiency and effectiveness, and to better address the evolving national security challenges facing their nations.

P170009 - Intelligence, Policy & Democracy

This course aims to assist countries in consolidating their democracies from the perspective of institutionalizing democratic intelligence systems, with particular focus on the role and contribution of policymakers to intelligence reform in democracy.

P179548 - Civil-Military Approaches to Maritime Security

This course covers transnational maritime threats (terrorism, armed robbery at sea, smuggling and trafficking of arms, drugs and people, IUU fishing, cyber, and pollution), and provides tools, strategies, and best practices to address those threats. It emphasizes how to enhance MDA, maritime governance, port security, institutional capacity, and human capital development.

P170001 - Executive Program in Defense Decision Making

The goal of this seminar is to empower participants with the knowledge and skills sets needed to be effective decision-makers, and act as agents of change to transform their security institutions to address ever-evolving national security challenges.

P170475 - Civil-Military Coordination in Disaster Relief

This course develops a comprehensive understanding of how national governments organize and use their armed forces to support domestic disaster response as well as international operations. Participants will learn best practices for coordinating relief within their own countries and methods used for participating in international crisis response.

P179847 - Comprehensive Approaches to Counter Hybrid Threats

This course examines national, regional, and collective security capacity and capabilities requirements to support a comprehensive approach to countering hybrid threats. Participants will identify key public and private organizations; consider the impact of political processes and explore policies and cooperation frameworks; and analyze methodology that supports operational and strategic understanding, willingness, collaboration, and execution of a viable approach to counter hybrid threats.

P179840 - Women in Strategic Defense & Security Decision Making

The seminar aims to support countries all over the world to develop and implement gender policies, in particular policies aimed at augmenting the representation of and the prospects for women in decision-level positions within the executive, legislative, and judicial branches, and including women in the security and defense decision-making arenas.

P179018 - Civil-Military Responses to Terrorism

This course provides a holistic understanding of terrorism as one of many transnational threats all governments face. The program utilizes case studies and a table top exercise to stimulate discussion which assists in providing participants with the insight needed to design successful strategies to defeat terrorist networks, protect citizens and property, and address the root causes of terrorism.

P170370 - Cybersecurity Policy & Practice

This course is intended for nations that are interested in developing capabilities to defend cyberspace from attack. National security, economic prosperity, and citizen safety are threatened daily through exploitation, intrusion or disruption in cyberspace by criminal, transnational, or regional competitors. This offering explores cyber concepts and evolving technologies for decision-makers to design and implement policies and practices for safeguarding the use of cyberspace.

P170036 - Security, Governance, & Institutional Capacity Building (Africa - French & English)

The main theme of this program is to examine the interfaces between security and governance common to developing countries in the region. An important aspect of discussion will be to distinguish between traditional security (the state level) and human security (the individual level), and to discuss how (or if) governments should use armed forces to do both.

P170030 - Managing Ethnic Conflict & Religious Violence

This course explores the causes of and potential responses to identity-based conflict. Participants learn and practice conflict analysis techniques, gain exposure to prevention and response strategies, and discuss security sector capabilities needed to respond effectively.

P173019 - Security & Irregular Migration

This course examines the role of governments - specifically, their security services - in responding to security risks ignited by irregular migration. Topics include roles and responsibilities, international humanitarian law, and how migration interacts with corruption, violent extremism, and criminal activity. The course focus is on how to prepare for, respond to, and work together in the management of irregular migration.

P179623 - Principles of Defense Acquisition & Contract Management (Spanish)

This course combines the Defense Acquisition Management (P159200) and Procurement and Contracting (P159202) courses into one course offering with Spanish language instruction with practical application within the Latin American context.

P171063 - Reintegration of Ex-Combatants & Violent Extremists

This seminar examines the reintegration of ex-combatants and violent extremists at the end of armed conflict. Also covered is the emerging issue of Foreign Terrorist Fighters (FTFs) returning to their country of origin, as well as rehabilitating violent extremists in domestic situations.

P179841 - Principles of Defense Acquisition & Logistics Management (French)

This course provides a theoretical and practical examination of defense acquisition management with an emphasis on institutional capacity building, logistics planning, and building and sustaining accountability in defense acquisition decision making.

P179085 - UN Peacekeeping Operations Contingent Commanders Course

This course prepares potential commanders in the roles and responsibilities of contingent commanders, battalion commanders, and sector commanders in complex peacekeeping operations, both for UN and other multinational responses.
