ELIGIBLE FUNDING: IMET, FMF/FMS
CERTIFICATION: PME, E-IMET

This International Defense Acquisition Resource Management (IDARM) course provides a theoretical examination of the underlying concepts, fundamentals, and philosophies of the defense acquisition management process. Participants will examine the complete defense acquisition life cycle from planning through equipment disposal. The course addresses management characteristics and competencies, control policies and techniques, systems analysis methods, risk management, and functional area concerns. International best practices are discussed along with implementation-related challenges. Participants will work in small groups on case study assignments designed to apply concepts presented throughout the course to real-life defense acquisition scenarios.

OBJECTIVES

Upon completion of this course, participants will be able to:

- ◆ Demonstrate an increased understanding of important concepts and challenges associated with defense acquisition and logistics decision-making
- ◆ Critically examine needs-based requirements planning, along with the relationship among national security and military strategies and acquisition and logistics systems
- ◆ Assist countries in their efforts to develop and institutionalize transparent, efficient, and effective defense acquisition and logistics systems

TOPICS

Course topics may include:

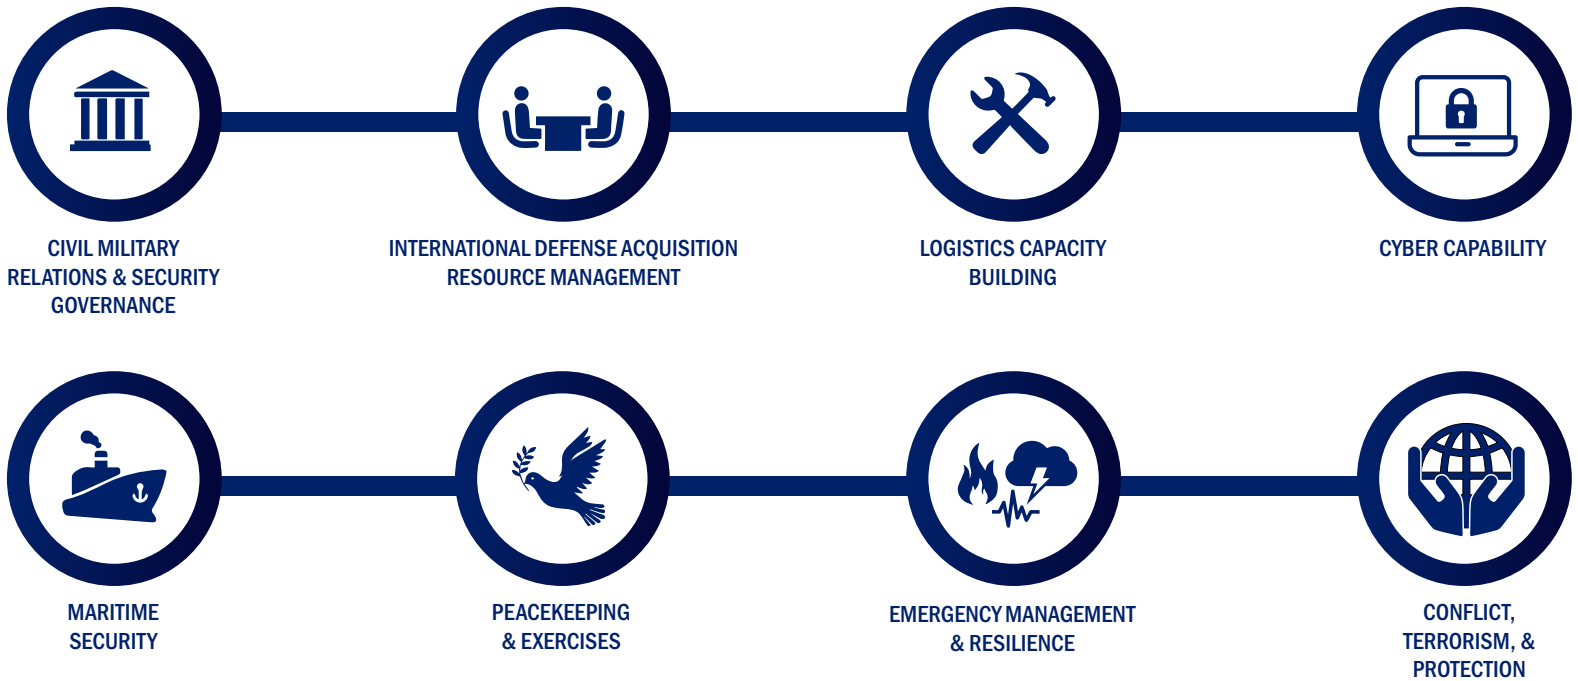

- ◆ Defense acquisition program management
- ◆ Capabilities based planning and requirements
- ◆ Multiple objectives criteria in decision making
- ◆ Acquisition logistics planning
- ◆ Life cycle cost management
- ◆ Strategies for building and sustaining accountability in defense acquisition decision-making

PARTICIPANTS

This course is designed for international military officers of grades O-4 to O-6 and civilian equivalents who are engaged in a broad range of acquisition fields, such as policy development, strategic planning, requirements definition, logistics, program management, procurement and contracting, budgeting and execution, and systems engineering.

ISG PROGRAM AREAS

ISG programming has been developed over 25 years by providing military and civilian officials with unique education and professional development programs. Courses are designed to cultivate individual understanding of complex issues, foster peer-to-peer learning, and build connected networks of international peers through a professional learning environment.

FACULTY

ISG has a diverse faculty team grounded in professional experience from academic, military, government, and civil sectors. The core faculty are augmented by experts drawn from other parts of government, and American and international subject matter experts drawn from universities, industry, think tanks, international organizations, and non-governmental organizations.

ENROLLMENT

Courses are conducted as part of the US Government security cooperation efforts. Interested partner nation personnel should contact their government's international cooperation section, or the relevant US Embassy's security/military cooperation section for selection processes and enrollment. Interested US citizens may contact ISG to discuss availability.

FUNDING

Educational programs are primarily implemented through Title 22 authorized programs (International Military Education and Training, Foreign Military Sales, Peacekeeping Operations) and various Title 10 authorized programs such as the Maritime Security Initiative (MSI) and Regional Defense Combating Terrorism and Irregular Warfare Fellowship Program (RDFFP).

ABOUT ISG

The Institute for Security Governance – situated within the Defense Security Cooperation University's (DSCU) International School of Education and Advising (ISEA) – is the Department of Defense's Center of Excellence for Institutional Capacity Building (ICB). As a component of the Defense Security Cooperation Agency (DSCA), and one of its primary international Security Cooperation schoolhouses, ISG is charged with building partner institutional capacity and capability through tailored advising, education, and professional development programs grounded in American values and approaches.
