Each Mobile Education Team (MET) course in the International Defense Acquisition Resource Management (IDARM) series can be developed using a three-phased approach in partnership with the host country's military and civilian leadership and managers. This Site Survey and Needs Assessment for Acquisition Management Series course is the first phase. This phase I visit involves IDARM team members visiting the host country to meet with the executives and managers responsible for determining defense requirements and qualifications for acquisition program managers and decision makers as well as to survey a nation's needs in a specific resource management area. This is accomplished through data gathered from on-site observations, structured interviews, and focus groups over a three-to-five day period.

OBJECTIVES

- ◆ Further refine understanding of the host nation's defense acquisition priorities, policies and procedures
- ◆ Establish relationships with acquisition managers in order to identify future course objectives and curriculum goals

TOPICS & PARTICIPANTS

Target audience for the site survey are professionals in the specific technical disciplines of the course to be developed.
