This seminar examines the reintegration of ex-combatants and violent extremists at the end of armed conflict—one of the most difficult yet important criteria for a successful transition from war to peace. Also covered is the emerging issue of Foreign Terrorist Fighters (FTFs) returning to their country of origin, as well as rehabilitating violent extremists in domestic situations. The cause and settlement of conflict, economic development, geography, demographics and cross-cutting issues must all be taken into account when developing a strategy for managing reintegration.

OBJECTIVES

At the end of this course, participants will be able to:

♦ Understand the importance of successful reintegration for the transition from war to peace
♦ Explain how economic development, geography, and demographics impact planning for reintegration
♦ Describe the impact of non-state, extra-state armed actors, radical/extremist groups, and terrorists in reintegration efforts
♦ Understand the importance of transitional justice in the process of reintegration
♦ Discuss the pros and cons of various reintegration approaches
♦ Draw from case studies for their own reintegration projects

TOPICS

This course examines reintegration challenges and planning through lectures, case studies, small group activities, discussions and other learning techniques that promote constructive dialogue.

Sample topics include:

♦ Post-conflict challenges affecting reintegration planning
♦ Economic and social reintegration
♦ Recent global dynamics in reintegration
♦ Non-state, extra-state armed actors, radical/extremist groups and terrorists
♦ Transitional Justice
♦ Somalia case study

PARTICIPANTS

This course is recommended for mid-grade to senior officers in all armed services and civilian/government employees involved in areas related to reintegration.
INSTITUTE FOR SECURITY GOVERNANCE

FACULTY
ISG employs a diverse faculty with strong professional, academic, military, and government backgrounds. This faculty core is augmented by other government experts (both civilian and military) and subject matter experts (SMEs) drawn from universities, think tanks, international organizations, and industry.

ENROLLMENT
Courses are conducted for partner countries as part of the United States government’s security assistance and security cooperation efforts. As such, participation in ISG courses is managed through the security cooperation office of the US Embassies in partner countries. Interested, non-US persons should contact the international cooperation section of their own government or the relevant US Embassy for selection processes and enrollment. ISG reserves limited space in courses for US citizens. Interested US citizens may contact ISG to discuss availability.

FUNDING
ISG can accept most types of US government funding. Courses are typically funded by IMET, FMF, FMS, CTIWFP, PKO, and other DoD-wide O&M funds (333, MSI, etc) on a case-by-case basis. Cost estimates can be obtained by contacting ISG.

ABOUT ISG
The Institute for Security Governance (ISG) is a global security cooperation organization established to build partner capability and grow the field and practice of institutional capacity building (ICB). Located in Monterey, California, ISG serves as the Defense Security Cooperation Agency (DSCA)’s primary resource for ICB integration and implementation, project scoping and design, and education and advising expertise.

This course is a key component of ISG’s 25-year-long effort to provide military and civilian officials with unique education and professional development programs. Designed to cultivate individual understanding of complex issues and foster peer-to-peer learning, this custom-tailored course offering brings theoretical and applied learning practices into a exciting and rich classroom environment.
